Einleitung

The Macromedia University is part of the internationally active education group Galileo Global Education that provides young people from all over the world with access to higher education academic study and qualifications. More than 120,000 students worldwide are enrolled under the Galileo Global Education umbrella. As a private educational institution, we are consistently expanding our educational program in Germany through the Macromedia brand (university and academy), Cours Florent and the Atelier Chardon Savard. We are located in the beautiful cities of Munich, Stuttgart, Freiburg, Cologne, Hamburg, Leipzig, Frankfurt am Main and Berlin.

At seven locations throughout Germany, Macromedia University offers state-approved and accredited bachelor's and master's degree programs in management, media, journalism, music, film, art, design and acting. Tuition is in German or English. A network of worldwide partner universities ensures that students benefit from an unforgettable experience abroad. Around 120 lecturers with industry backgrounds provide job-market focussed teaching and an academic perspective that sees the university shaping the digital transition.
